AAMC/CDC/Fullerton Collaborative Webinar

6/4/2015 Attendees:
Don Bradley, MD, MHS-CL – Duke
Jarrett Sell, MD—Adler Health Services
Justine Strand de Oliveira, DrPH, PA-C—Duke
Tina Kenyon, ACSW—NH Dartmouth
Kate Reuterward, PR Collaborative
Mina Silberberg, PhD – Duke
Sarah Weaver, MPH—Duke
Robin Lankton, MPH—University of Wisconsin

6/16/2015 Attendees:
Don Bradley, MD, MHS-CL – Duke
Sharon Hull, MD—Duke
Claire Oakley, PhD—RiverStone Health

Don Bradley presented on emerging models for chronic care and population health with insights from the IOM, as well as doing a recap of the past AAMC/CDC/Fullerton Collaborative Webinars.

Main points:
• The importance of logic models and sharing them in this field.
• The importance of public health competencies and where they are at this point.
• Adding broader audiences to the AAMC/CDC/Fullerton Webinars.

Discussion
• Sharing the program action logic model (PowerPoint Slides-slides 9 and 10) with other groups to integrate work with others.
• Programs aren’t certain when to make the leap to integrate.
  o They don’t know what to do.
  o Health systems are just starting to get the idea of population health.

For more detailed information, the slides and webinar recording can be found at: http://cfm.mc.duke.edu/modules/ cfm_resrc/index.php?id=1